

Recommended by
The New York Times in
"36 Hours in Venice"

Venice Music Project
San Polo 2788
30125 Venice, Italy
info@venicemusicproject.it
www.venicemusicproject.it
Tel: +393457911948

Venice Music Project Ensemble Bio

Since its inception in 2012, Venice Music Project Ensemble quickly distinguished itself as the leading international musical ensemble whose primary mission is to restore and share lost music from the magnificent Venetian Baroque period with the rest of the world.

A group of internationally acclaimed musicians, at the apex of our careers, decided to try to make a difference in this fragile city that is our home: thus the non-profit organization, Venice Music Project, was born.

As highly specialized musicians in the Venetian Baroque style, most of our musicians spend as many hours doing musical archaeology in local libraries and archives as they do rehearsing and performing, and we have unearthed a vast treasure trove of important music manuscripts that we are thrilled to share with our audiences. The world truly went mad for Mozart and forgot all the glorious music that preceded and inspired him. The composers that he praised in his correspondence with his family are just waiting to be rediscovered, and we are on it!

The thrill of knowing that we are the first to perform an incredible piece of music for the first time in over 300 years, and the overwhelming reaction of audiences at being able to hear that performance, is life-changing for us all. Every concert contains at least one of these "Hidden Treasures," and several concerts within each season are entirely dedicated to that theme.

Inspired by our colleagues who restore art and architecture in Venice, and mindful of the intricate relationship that they have with Venice's music, we have also made it our mission to support the restoration of the historic locations in Venice where we perform. To date, we have donated over €50,000 toward that purpose.

Join our cheering section, and help these composers find their voices.

And, as always, we will Ba-ROCK you!